

Natalia Wojak-Strzelecka

Natalia Wojak-Strzelecka, MSc (natalia.wojak-strzelecka-guest@uj.edu.pl)

Natalia has received Bachelor's (2020) and Master's (2022) degrees in Mathematics from Silesia University of Technology, Faculty of Applied Mathematics. Her career path is deeply rooted in the industry, she started as a data scientist working on vibration signals for predictive maintenance applications and continuing as a modelling specialist at ArcelorMittal, where she develops and implements models for production optimization and image processing. Currently, as a PhD candidate, she is working on advanced domain adaptation techniques for industrial data stream applications and explainable anomaly detection.
